Who guides and molds the "child of clay"?

Parents, relatives, friends, environment;

All have their influence on him.

But,

it is the teacher who kindles the child's flame, and converts it into a burning torch,

the searing hot flame of

QUEST

The teacher is a seeker also.

Therefore,

this book is dedicated to the teacher who gives thirst for knowledge and truth;

and to the teacher who searches for these things himself.

The child is a searcher.

Questing.

Looking for a better place,
a greater time.

And what does youth quest for?

For purpose and self-identity.

Once this goal is grasped manhood is reached,

and the quest becomes one of accomplishing his purpose, and establishing,

keeping his identity.

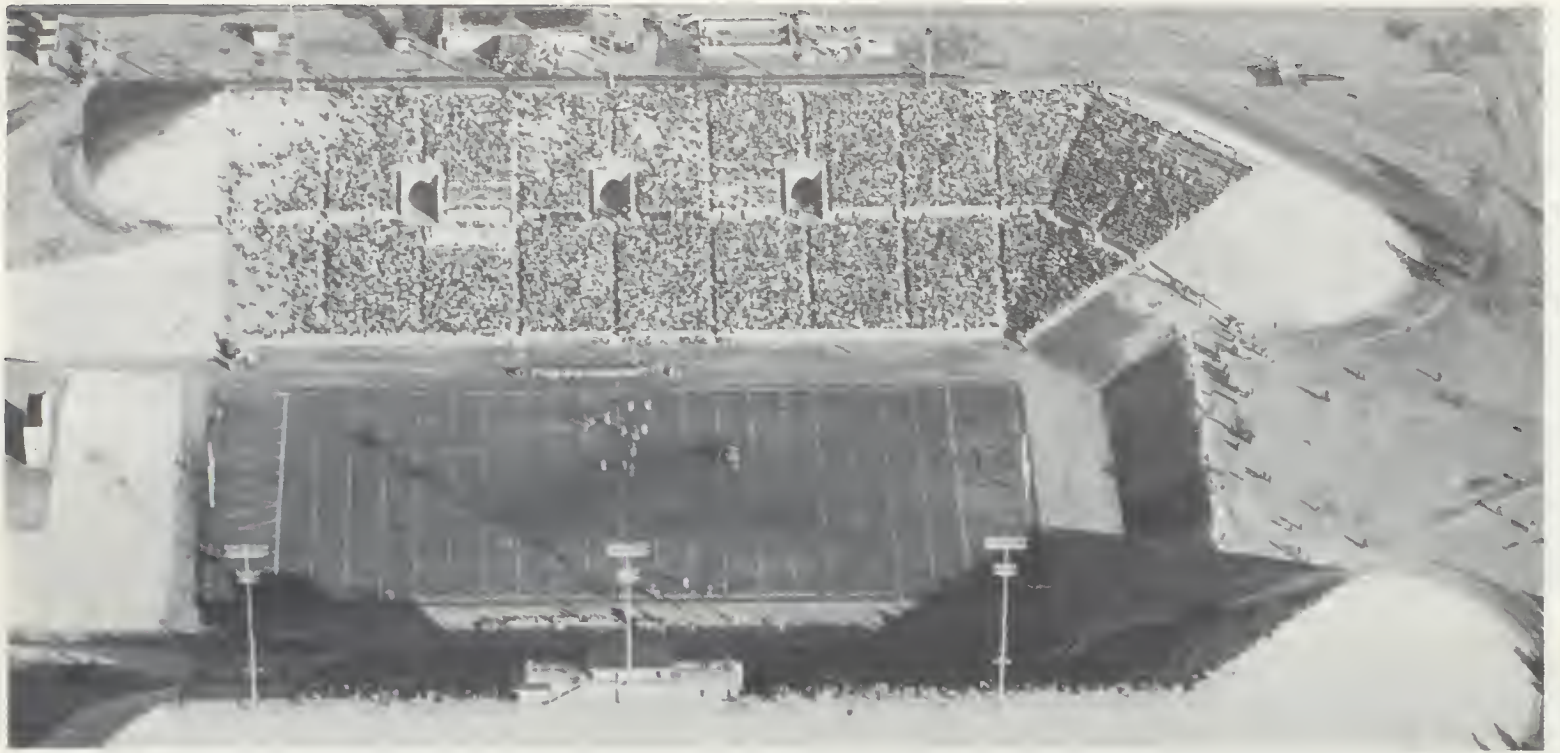

School.

The beginning.

The institute of accumulation, grouping of ideas, ideals, thoughts and experience.

and the city. . .

Spokane.

Youth searches for his future, and attempts to earn the right to be called an equal within the community.

In a mass of individuals and non-conformists.

The searcher attempts to gain insight, power and wisdom.

The world is discovered through. . .

ACADEMICS

Social Studies Teaching Methods Vary

Aside from the customary lecture-text method, Shadle teachers used numerous methods and techniques in acquainting their students with history this year.

Individual film strip study in the library, panel discussions and guest speakers highlighted new procedures.

Combining English 5 and 6 with U.S. History, teachers experimented with a team teaching program.

Displaying and presenting ideas, bulletin boards served as an educational means. Films also proved to be a method of instruction used by many teachers.

Right: Sophomore Ray Reyes glances through his book as he ponders an assignment given in his first period World History class.

Above: Mr. George Manning, using a newspaper to illustrate, discusses current events with juniors in his United States History class.

Ted McGhee and Tony Mandulay study educational film strips.

Left: Shelley Ness, Denise Key, Mike Mayo, and Pat McEvoy participate in a World History panel discussion with Mr. Eugene Kelly's assistance.

Above: Mrs. Dennie Moore, English teacher, instructs a combined United States Literature and History class of sixty students.

English 5 Classes Integrate with History

Above: Doug Johnson, coached by his teacher, Mrs. Virginia Burger, portrays Falstaff from Henry IV in the Seminar in Literature class.

Below: Mr. Don Miller lectures to the integrated English 5 and U.S. History class on the results of the Spanish-American War.

An integrated English 5 and U.S. History class highlighted the English curriculum this year. Mrs. Dennie Moore and Mr. Don Miller taught this class, which was offered to juniors. The class stressed the similarities between English and history.

Shadle's Humanities course, introduced last year, remained popular with the seniors again this year. "Lectures and seminars stress philosophy, culture, fine arts, and other divisions of the humanities," said Mr. Frank Yuse, who taught the class with Mr. Frank Windishar.

Sophomores studied mythology for the first time in English class. The English 3 classes also received lectures on how to get the most out of reading a newspaper. All three English levels gained the added benefit of film lectures on the classics.

Below: In a lecture to his senior Humanities class, Mr. Frank Windishar discusses the relationship between history and culture.

Above: Brent Burch, Kelly Little, and Dorrit Marr discuss plans for their two-act play, "The Mouse That Roared," in drama class.

staff, Mr. Flores taught first, second, and third year Spanish. If enrollment warrants, fourth year Spanish will be available next year.

New Class

Russian Culture Adds

Introducing Russian this year climaxed changes to the foreign language curriculum.

Taught by Mr. Ilmar Kuljus, the class had twenty-six students learning first year Russian. Books, tapes, and oral discussions dominated classroom instruction.

Mr. Carlos Flores, a native of Mexico and Shadle's new Spanish teacher, gave his students first hand knowledge of the Spanish language and culture of the land.

Using new techniques, many foreign language students advanced in their studies this year. French and Latin classes became acquainted with new texts, while Spanish students took a more oral approach by using the language laboratory and tapes.

Extension of the lab last year gave all classes a better chance to use its facilities. More tapes were used by all classes, and Latin students used tapes for the first time.

Possibilities for new experiences within the language courses include a one-act play in French by fourth year French students. If enrollment is sufficient, a fourth year Spanish class will be added to the language program for next year's curriculum.

dents used tapes for the first time this year as part of classroom learning.

New Student Interest

reading played an important part in class instruction and student comprehension of the language.

on trial basis at Shadle, will be continued next year if student interest suffices.

Above: Becky Petersen, first year French student, concentrates on writing explanations of French translation and sentence structure. Under the eight week instruction of student teacher Miss Sharon Loge, the class studied the basic funda-mentals of first year French with the aid of new books, the language laboratory, and oral participation. Memory work by the students, the key factor, will help them in the second, third, and fourth year French class they will take.

Unusual Science Classes Stress Student Interest, Course Content

Offering Paleobiology and Integrated Science for a second year, Shadle science instructors attempted to satisfy student interest with unique course content.

Paleobiology, a senior class, emphasizes historical geology of the Northwest. Students could choose any of seven field trips in Washington and Montana.

In the classroom, Mr. Joseph Heslin lectured on rocks, minerals and natural forces, using films and slides for illustration.

Mrs. Margaret Ostness' ecology section of Integrated Science studies show bugs under various environments to test their development, adaptation, and preferences in relation to plants.

Also in Integrated Science, students in Mr. Paul Jensen's chemistry section determined the amount of oxygen and water consumed by goldfish.

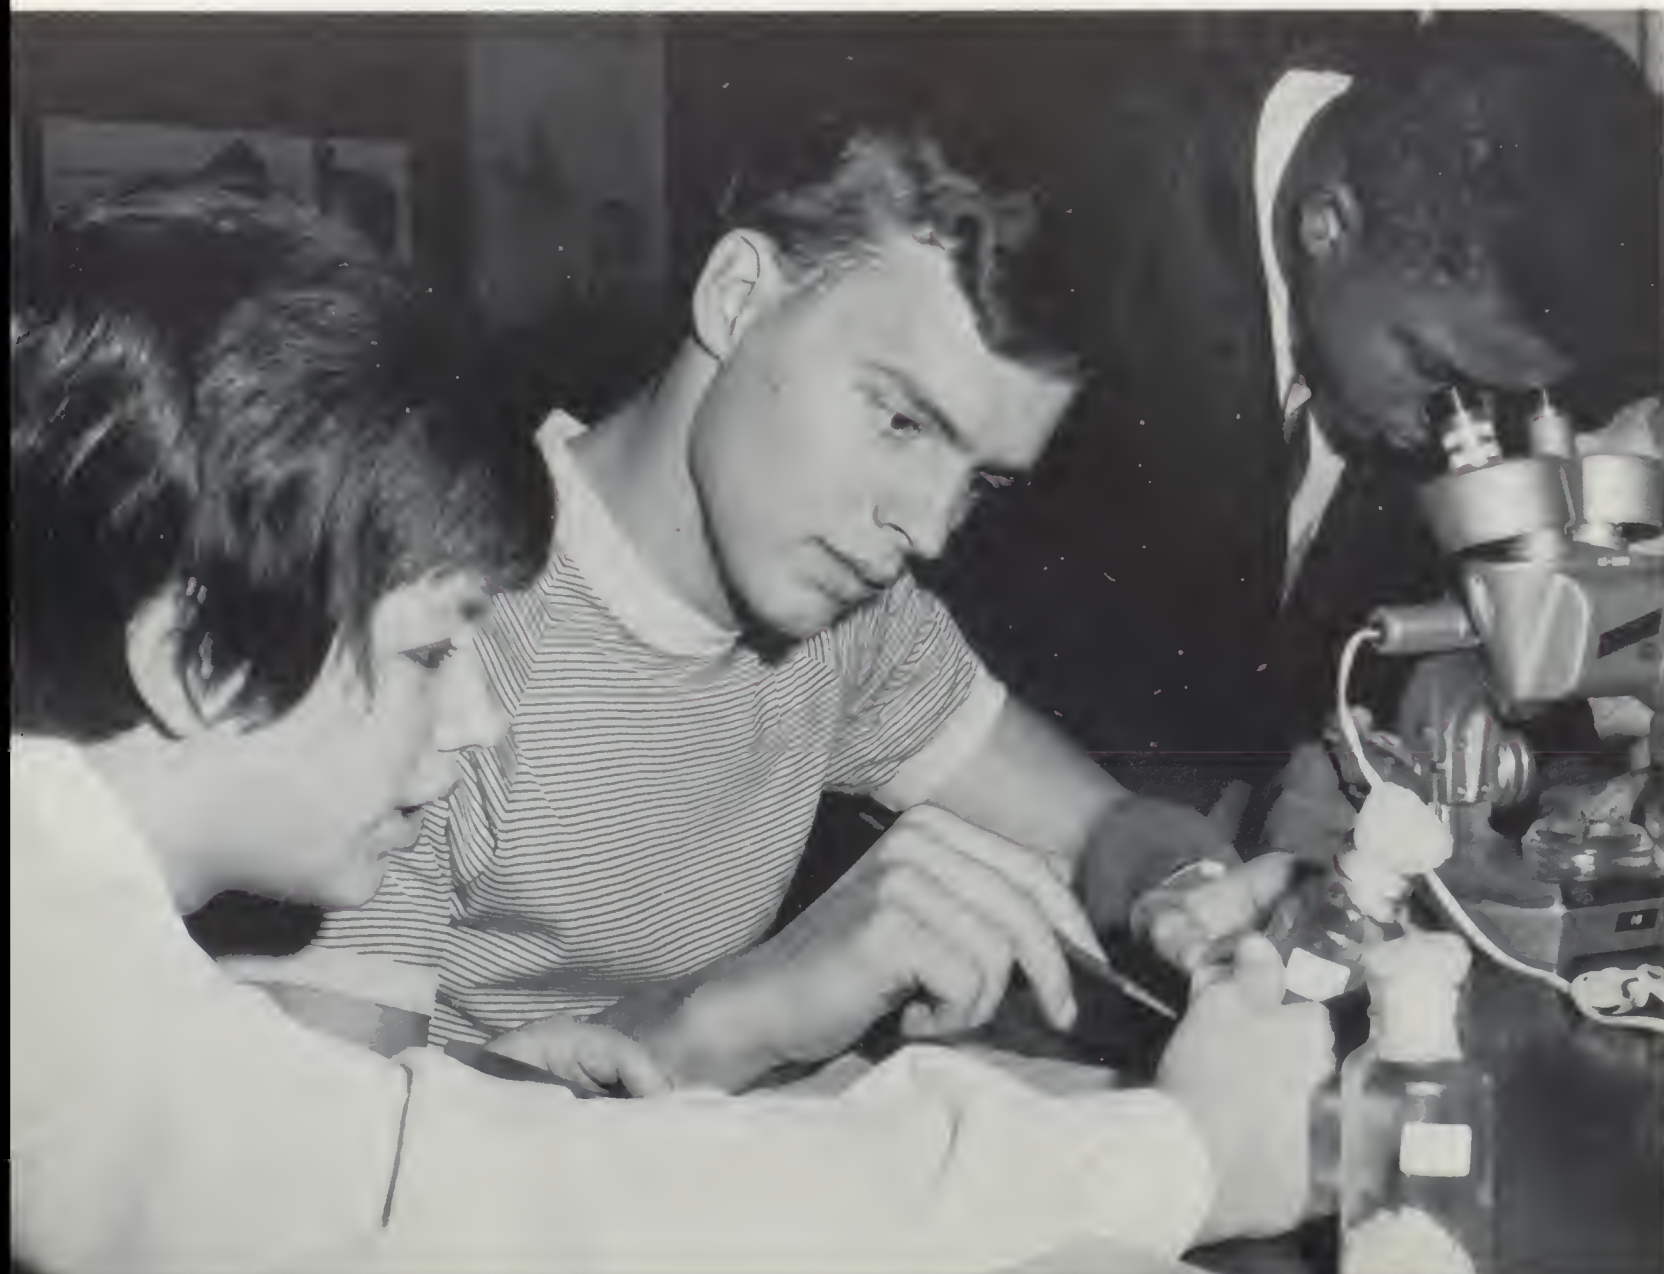

In the third Integrated Science section, Mr. E. B. Chrisman guides a physical study of sound—how it originates, is manipulated, and controlled.

Seven classes of General Chemistry, offered only at Shadle, resemble a college preparatory course, although they are not as rigorous as CHEM Study or the Honors section of Chemistry.

Observing live organisms and their life function, general biology classes studied plant life, insecticides, weed killers, and landscaping.

Below: Kathy Johnson and Richard Merritt check fruit fly cultures and count populations, as Rod Holmes identifies fruit flies with a binocular microscope. The experiment is part of the ecology study of the Integrated Science course, a class designed to expose students to three phases of lab science.

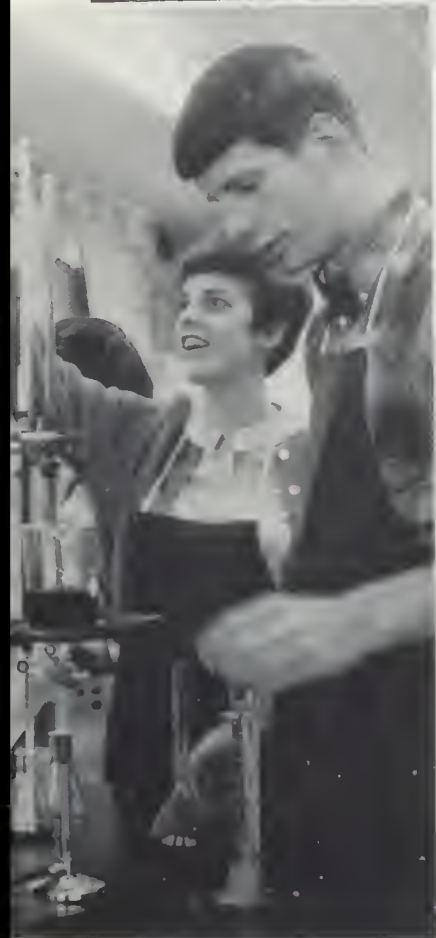

Mrs. Margaret Ostness explains different media and environments of fruit flies in an Integrated Science Lab session.

Above: In an Honors Chemistry analysis project, Wendy Ramage pours a neutralizing liquid into a sample to determine the amount of the original unknown liquid. Team partner Bob Hodge assists in the experiment.

Above: Mr. Marvin Anderson interprets the way plant and animal cells store and oxidize sugar to release energy in small units. "It's like going into a bank with $2.00 and getting $38.00 in change," he explains. Studying energy relationships in living organisms is a chemistry aspect of biology.

Below: Dale Anderson glances back at his work projected on a screen by the overhead in Mr. Cappello's Intermediate Math class.

New Math Devices Aid Students

New teaching devices enabled Shadle students to gain a better understanding of modern math.

Teachers found that the wide differences in student abilities created problems. Applying the objective technique, faster students could help the slower pupils. Students could then progress at their own pace.

Overhead projectors served as ideal teaching aids. "Students can become more involved working with the overhead projectors because it's more like working out the problem themselves," remarked Mr. Robinette.

DE Aids Vocational Business Education

Part of the learning process in Business Education employs the use of dictaphones. Roberta Coffman spent long hours pondering over tapes.

"Those who plan on entering the business world after graduation find business education and vocational courses at Shadle Park especially useful," stated Mr. Ed Feldhusen, Business Education Department head.

Advanced typing and shorthand were taught in the secretarial science course, a two hour block, which also gave students experience by performing the actual secretarial duties in class.

Distributive Education, a class for seniors only, offered part-time work for students. In-class instruction on marketing, sales promotion, and social and economic responsibilities benefited them on the job.

By working in the public and business offices, students acquired clerical skills and practical experience.

Above: Business Education classes provided a wide variety of training for perspective secretaries and other business majors. Shorthand, one of the most necessary skills for all secretaries, filled instruction time for Mrs. Egger, Mrs. Griggs, and Mrs. Smithpeters. Pam Mirek practiced shorthand symbols to gain speed and accuracy.

Below: The third period DE class held meetings on Mondays. Fall semester officers were Doug Freeland, Parliamentarian; Tom Munkers, Treasurer; Kathy Miller, Historian; Mr. Morlan, co-ordinator; June Landerholm, Secretary; and Bob Donahoe, Vice-President. Not pictured: Keith Swett, President.

Boys Invade Home Ec; Girls Return to Shop

Invading the Home Economic classes for a second year, boys learned how to buy, plan and prepare meals. Students in the foods department heard speakers from the U and I Sugar Company and the State Wheat Commission.

Girls made jackets, skirts and a suit or coat in tailoring classes. To see if they liked their suits or not, the girls made them out of a less expensive material before finishing them in wool.

Home Furnishings became popular with students as the enrollment increased this year. They learned how to re-finish wood furniture and re-upholster other furniture. Field trips to outstanding homes and to a home furnishings display at Fort Wright College added interest.

Future interests in interior decorating encouraged girls to take drafting, while boys took it for architecture work. Boys learned how to construct furniture in wood shop. They also studied how trees grow and are cut for construction.

The sole girl in electronics studied the principles of electricity with her fellow students. The course prepares them for electronic careers.

Above: Peggy Wiens and Marilyn Genova learn new techniques in their sewing class. Before working on wool the girls had bought a less expensive material to see if they liked their patterns.

Left: Rex Morgan watches as Mike Myhre lays out a radio on a circuit board. The students in electronics studied the principles of electricity by working on radios and other electrical appliances. This course prepares the students for careers in the electronics field.

Right: John Repp, an architecture student in drafting, draws his future house plans. From this he will go on to make a tracing, a blue print, and a scale model of the house. Drafting leads boys to careers in mechanical, architectural and technical drawing.

Right: Randy Lantz looks on as Barbara Macri prepares their meal. Besides learning to buy, plan, and prepare meals, the students heard speakers from the U. and I. Sugar Company and the Wheat Commission.

PE Department Introduces Varied Sports

Adding ice skating, bowling, golf and tennis to traditional sports expanded Shadle Park's Physical Education Department.

Classes left the building, visiting ice rinks and bowling alleys to learn the basic rules and techniques of these sports. Instructors gave golf and tennis instruction to students on Shadle's field.

Students learned different floor exercises and game rules in the gym and outdoor

Six weeks of pool instructions taught students basic swimming strokes and safety methods. Using poles, towels and ropes, students also learned various life saving methods in and out of the water.

Gymnastics classes encouraged agility and coordination.

Six weeks of health class taught sophomores the effects of smoking and drinking.

Fine Arts Department Adds to Curriculum

Above: Concert Choir members, under the direction of Mr. Kornmeyer, practice "Up, Up and Away" for their annual Spring Concert.

Art and Music Departments enlarged this year, making it possible for students to participate in more projects.

Two string quartets added to Shadle's Music Department. Under the direction of Mr. John Harris, the quartets appeared on KSPS TV, entertained retired teachers and also performed for churches, the school district and in the Christmas concert with the orchestra and choral groups.

With the addition of a new teacher, Mrs. Schwab, the Art Department expanded and added a new project this year. For the first time art students constructed all necessary Christmas cards for the ASB and Girls' League. These include all cards sent out to faculty members, those affiliated with the school and one card to every high school in Spokane and the Valley.

Students also designed window decorations for all classrooms.

ACTIVITIES

ASB meetings on Tuesday and Thursday mornings get the attention and concentration of the home room representatives taking notes for reports in home room. During the fall semester, the council met on the auditorium stage for better acoustics and convenience.

Varied Fall Activities Involve Student Body

Fall semester ASB officers were: Greg Toy, president; Mike Myhre, vice president; Karen Clark, secretary; Diana Bullivant, treasurer; Dean Barrett, fifth executive.

Hosting Scottish Boy Scouts for the World Jamboree last summer involved the fall semester ASB in one of their first official activities. The ASB honored the scouts with a one day program including entertainment and refreshments for students and scouts.

Earning $200.00 for A.F.S., the ASB delivered telephone books in Spokane neighborhoods.

By request of the student body, the school district painted the west side of the building in green and gold.

The fall semester ASB arranged the purchase of a new Victory Bell to replace the cracked one. The ASB held special money raising projects for the purchase of the new bronze bell.

Part of the program welcoming the Scottish Boy Scouts was presented by the Scottish contingent. Here a scout master and scout play for Shadle's students.

Lassies Enjoy Revenge on Hi-Lassie Day

Above: Playing at the Highland Fling, The Northern Lights provided music and entertainment for a large crowd of students on the night of Hi-Henderson Day.

Below: Elected friendliest girl and boy of the year, seniors Jami Molitor and Ivar Hellevik were crowned at the Highland Fling.

Highlander Week renewed a tradition this year when the Highlander committee put Hi-Laddie Day before Hi-Lassie Day. In recent years, boys had to gain revenge on the second of the student "special courtesy" days. By revising the week's structure, the girls revived a custom of alternating the days every other year.

Henderson Hop, the annual Highlanders Fling, ended the week of festivities. The crowning of Ivar Hellevik and Jami Molitor as Shadle's friendliest boy and girl, climaxed the dance. Ivar, Shadle's A.F.S. student from Norway, won the election after attending school for one month.

Traditional Christmas Activities Busy ASB

Raising money for a surprise Christmas project, the ASB collected over $640.00 for the daughter of head custodian, Hugh Leppell. Suffering from cystic fibrosis, she received the money to help pay expenses. Students also donated money through a collection in home rooms.

Another Christmas project included a party and toys for the children of the Grotto Cerebral Palsy Care Center.

Continuing a traditional Christmas project the ASB gave a typewriter and hand vacuum cleaner to Galland Hall. This is a home for orphan girls ages 12 to 18.

For the first time, Shadle hosted a homecoming. A tea, held before Christmas welcomed the returning graduates. Other pre-holiday activities included preparations for the annual Christmas dance.

lected by the "Santa" for the surprise project. Other collections taken in home rooms helped raise money for Hugh Leppell's daughter.

International Understanding Theme Affects

International understanding influenced Shadle life with Haydee Valdes and Ivar Hellevik at Shadle, 1967 graduate Greg Sanford studying in Sweden, and a contingent of eight studying at the University of Wales this summer.

"I love the school best, I live there," enthusiastically commented Haydee Valdes, the American Field Service student from Arica, Chile. "I went to an all girl school before; there wasn't any football or basketball or nearly as much activity," Haydee explained. "But I always freeze here. Where I'm from, it never gets colder than 50 degrees," she added.

"I really like the sports and the student enthusiasm at Shadle," Ivar Hellevik commented. "At my school in Norway we compete only in soccer and track. I hope to turn out for track here. It seems like time is passing so quickly. Soon I'll be on a three week trip across the continent with the other A.F.S. students from the West Coast."

Coaching basketball and learning the Swedish language are two of Greg Sanford's main interests. Learning of his acceptance as an A.F.S. student on the last day of school, Greg left ten days later for a year of study in Sweden.

Studying at the University of Wales for six weeks and touring France and England for two weeks highlighted a summer trip taken by eight Shadle students and chaperones Mr. and Mrs. Ted Clark. The trip, sponsored by the American Institute for Foreign Study, gave students the chance to live and study at the University of Wales in Bangor, Wales.

Unifying Highlander ideals, the spring ASB council strove to main spirit, the constitution and communication.

Shadle's new Public Relations committee promoted project ideas, such as using Wink Dance profits to pay for a new Victory Bell.

Re-election of four student officers resulted from the council's decision to uphold the required 2.5 grade average.

Creating moods of anticipation, speculation and frenzy, the 1968 Lilac Princess Coronation produced a fairy-tale setting around Princess Denise Sartz.

Master of ceremonies, Mark Eastburg introduced the finalists who gave a 3-5 minute prepared speech entitled "What can a young person do to improve her community."

After a short intermission, the girls picked an impromptu speech, followed by entertainment featuring the Treble Tempos and Stage Band. Mark Eastburg presented a dozen red roses to Denise.

Amigos de las Americas Gains

Selling green and gold spirit bows, the League raised over two hundred dollars to send to the Amigos de las Americas, their main project for the fall semester. The bows were sold on the day before and on the day of football games to promote spirit.

Right: Karen Clark, Judy Shotwell, and Phyllis VanWinkle look over their notes before speaking at the Girls' State Assembly. All three girls attended Girls' State during the summer, and shared their experiences with the league. Briefly, Karen spoke about the comical parts of the trip. Judy talked to the girls about how to get involved in government. Phyllis showed how each person was involved at Girls' State. They were all impressed by the friendliness and co-operation of all the girls at Girls' State.

Above: Showing their talent and providing entertainment for the Girls' League, the cheerleaders put on a skit at the Big-Little Sister con, held in the auditorium. Their costumes and dancing carried out the theme, "Through the Looking Glass." The con, held at the first of the school year, helps girls become acquainted with the Girls' League. At the close of the convocation, girls went to the cafeteria for an informal social time, planned by the Courtesy Committee.

Girls' League Support

Selling spirit bows and holding other sales, the Girls' League assisted the Amigos de las Americas as their major fall project. The Amigos are United States students who give aid to the people in Honduras and Guatemala.

Early in September, a "Big-Little Sister" con helped acquaint new girls with the Girls' League. The cheerleaders put on a skit which carried out the theme "Through the Looking Glass."

JoAnne Dawson concluded the convocation by singing "Climb Every Mountain" and by having all girls sing the Alma Mater.

Speaking at the Girls' State Assembly held on October 25, Karen Clark, Judy Shotwell and Phyllis VanWinkle related their summer experiences at Girls' State to the girls.

Long serving lines, apple and cherry pies, gymnastic presentations, and singing by Ivar Hellevik and Haydee Valdes characterized the Dad-Daughter Dessert. One thousand attended the tribute to "Our Favorite Santa."

Decorations and tickets for the Sadie Hawkins featured characters from the Little Abner comic strip. A sell-out crowd of 500 couples attended.

Shiny metal pins, washclothes, toothpaste, toothbrushes, soap and other items collected by the Girls' League, expressed the Christmas spirit at Shadle. "These items will go to refugees in South Vietnam," explained League President Phyllis VanWinkle.

Making 2,400 Christmas greetings with candy canes attached kept the 35 girls of Courtesy Committee busy during the Christmas season.

Girls' League Presents Dance, Reception

Below: Phyllis Van Winkle gives her farewell speech summarizing activities before presenting the president's necklace to Jan Smith.

Activities conducted by the Spring Girls' League Council and officers included the Cotton Day Dance, a Simplicity Style Show and the Mother-Daughter Reception.

Before the council held its first meeting, the Girls' League officers made valentines for the administrative staff and faculty. They also planned a surprise party in the cafeteria for the council after their first meeting.

Highlanders welcomed spring with the annual Cotton Day and Cotton Day Dance March 29th. Characterizing spring, students sported colorful fashions during the day and wore similar dress at the dance that same evening.

After spring vacation a Simplicity Style Show gave Shadle Lassies an insight into the coming spring fashions. The Girls' League officers planned and arranged for the convocation which featured Shadle girls as models.

Climaxing the year's activities, the Mother-Daughter Reception provided a relaxing and entertaining evening for Shadle girls and their mothers. After receiving refreshments in the cafeteria, mothers and daughters socialized before the program began.

Committee Members Usher, Befriend Girls

Making candy cane treats and valentines, ushering at concerts and being Big Sisters kept Shadle's Courtesy Committee occupied throughout the school year.

Courtesy committee members made candy canes for the entire student body before Christmas vacation.

February 14th, Valentine's Day, the office staff, cooks and custodians received original, hand-made valentines, courtesy of the Girls' League.

Along with special courtesies to students and staff, committee members also ushered at concerts and plays in the Shadle auditorium. They acted as Big Sisters to all new girls who came to Shadle during the school session, acquainting them with the students and the school.

Cheerleaders Spark Highlander Pep, Spirit

Participating in the Ellensburg cheerleading clinic last summer, this year's cheerleaders learned new techniques of presenting yells. Incorporating these ideas, they introduced five new cheers to Shadle.

During football and basketball seasons the cheerleaders stressed individual encouragement of the players. To induce team spirit the cheerleaders presented the players with signs, suckers and popcorn balls accompanied with "Eat 'em up!" tags.

Setting a precedent, the cheerleaders initiated Pep rallies before school. In addition to planning pep cons and skits, they met the exchange students at the airport and served at award banquets and at a watermelon feed for the football players.

Cheerleaders are Front Row: Jami Molitor, Betsy Wightman. Row 2: Leanne Solin, Denise Sartz, Judy Shotwell, Jacque Bowman, Kelly Little. They competed for two days in cheerleading elimination try-outs.

Hi-Lassies presented "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" for their traditional spring con to raise money for the purchase of new uniforms. Other money raising projects included a fruit cake sale, carnival and the Hi-Lassie dance "His'n'Hers."

They also ushered at the College Conference Day and the Leadership Conference held at Shadle.

Promotes Enthusiasm

Promoting Highlander spirit, Pep Club actively supported Shadle Laddies at all sports events. The annual surprise breakfast for the football players was given in November, ending Pep Club's fall season.

Cheerleaders awarded the pep stick to the club during basketball season for their enthusiasm at the games. The club gave individual recognition each month by awarding a pin to the member who encouraged school spirit.

During the Christmas tournament at Spokane Community College, Pep Club sold basketball programs to boost the treasury.

Great Scots, Clansmen Promote SP Spirit

Upholding traditions in their third year, the Great Scots introduced school and sports activities.

Wearing the official Henderson plaid vest with a yellow shirt, they attended all athletic functions. The Scots also planned a Folk Jazz Festival.

Clansmen responsibilities included directing crowds and watching doors at home games.

Donating to the March of Dimes, buying a bulletin board for the P.E. department and sponsoring their annual smoker wrestling match, headed the Clansmen program.

Piper Band, Dancers

Perform for Cons, Games, Lilac Parade

Practicing during fourth period, the bagpipers marched with the band at the W.S.U.-Arizona game on band day, October 21. The musicians also marched at Shadle games.

Both the Highland dancers and bagpipers performed at the Lilac Parade, school cons and concerts. The Dancers danced at Eastern Washington State Mental Hospital and Lakeland Village.

This year Mr. Bill Thomas, bagpiper instructor, played with the pipers at some engagements because there was a drop in membership from eleven to seven pipers.

Highland dancers, directed by Mrs. Bill Thomas, became more active as their membership increased from six to ten.

Bandsmen

Shadle Park's Band made "striking and memorable appearances," observed Mr. John Harris, not only in Spokane, but throughout the state, from their first marching appearance at the September 15 Gonzaga football game to the Wenatchee Apple Blossom Festival in May.

Five students participated in the All-State Band, along with the other honor bandsmen at the combined Washington Music Educators Conference and National Conference, March 15-19 in Seattle.

'Travel State-Wide'

primarily for band directors and outstanding players from the Inland Empire met at Cheney. Fifteen to twenty selected Shadle students played in their own sections such as wood winds, brass, and percussion.

Shadle participated with 18 other bands at the Stadium for the WSU-Arizona game on Oct. 21, WSU's Band Day.

Classified according to the school size, Shadle performed with other Class A high school bands, April 20, at the Eastern Washington Band Contest. Later in the spring, all the music groups of Shadle exhibited their talents in the Smorgasbord Concert held here May 23.

Marching in two parades this year, the band and majorettes displayed their "versatile talents" in the Apple Blossom Festival in Wenatchee and again for Spokane's Torchlight Parade.

Shadle's Formal Band presented a special concert, Feb. 7, for the student body and one for the public in the auditorium.

Introduce Jimmie Abato at Pops Concert

Shadle's 11th annual Pops Concert featured Jimmie Abato as guest artist. Abato is one of few to achieve a virtuoso status on three major instruments: the alto sax, bass clarinet, and soprano clarinet.

Various other events in the music department included programs given by the orchestra to junior highs throughout the city.

The stage band attended a state wide clinic in Bremerton during May. Honors went to the highest scoring bands as well as to the highest rated performer in each of the stage bands.

Vocal Groups Present Concerts; Perform for Educational KSPS

Videotaping for educational TV, KSPS, highlighted the choral department's annual activities, under the supervision of Mr. Melvin Kornmeyer.

Featuring the stage band, Highlandaires, Treble Tempos, and Concert Choir, the program showed Spokane what students are doing in their music departments.

Beginning a new challenge system, Choir members followed a program similar to that used in the band, where they compete individually.

Concluding a year of practicing, the orchestra and Choir participated in a March spring concert featuring a Hayden mass.

Inspired by a medalist rating from Columbia Scholastic Press Association (the highest attainable award for a high school publication) the 1968 Sporrان staff strived to preserve the excellence associated with the Sporrان.

Four column layout featured in the Sporrان proved to be a trend setter. Other schools of the Northwest have adapted this layout style. It is an attempt to combine the best elements of magazine format and commercial display layout.

Accompanied by the advisor, Mr. Ted Clark, the Sporrان staff and the Hi-Lites staff made various trips to Seattle, Whitworth and Pasco to learn the processes and methods of publication.

CLUBS

Dileas, Key Club Serve Community, School

Shadle's honorary clubs, Dileas Chailin and Key Club, helped both the school and the community and promoted culture within their clubs.

The annual Fine Arts Festival highlighted Dileas Chailin's activities this year. Music, fashion, drama, dance and art were represented during the three-day festival in March. Dileas also held their annual Dad-Daughter Potluck, Mother-Daughter Reception and Christmas party. Members attended a Civic Theater production and a pizza party with North Central's girls' club.

Key Club continued work on the Pineriver Park project with the Kiwanis Club and the County Park Department. They also helped the Shadle Merchant's Association with their Santa Claus display and supported the March of Dimes by selling balloons at Shadle Center. Senior Kelly Little was chosen Key Club Key Heart by its members in January.

Striving for greater understanding of world problems, students in Debate and Demarians engaged in discussions and projects. Quill and Scroll and Library Club members also brought special services to Shadle this year.

Discussion of the question "Should Congress establish uniform regulations to control criminal investigation procedures?" characterized the Debate Club's year. Selected groups attended the Seattle Pacific and Gonzaga University meets.

Debating of such topics as hippies, the revolt in Greece and possible Republican Presidential nominees, challenged the Demarians as they discussed different political events of 1968.

Demarians engaged in private research and examination of international, national and local political moves of the world.

Members of Quill and Scroll, national journalism honorary, attended an installation at Ferris in November. The group mounted awards for the journalism department and participated in a spring picnic.

Library Club introduced new book lists, sold paperbacks, and visited other libraries under the supervision of Mrs. Haight. Members also sponsored the art displays of local artists and bulletin boards in Shadle's library.

'Future' Clubs Sponsor Tours, Projects

Touring and working on special projects characterized the year for FNA, FTA, and FMS.

Future Nurses of America sponsored a fifteen-year-old girl at Lakeland Village. The club had a Christmas party for her and each member brought a present. They also took her to the Ice-Capades during the Christmas season. The club toured Eastern Washington Mental Hospital and Spokane's Blood Bank.

Future Teachers of America attended a regional conference at Eastern Washington State College. All Spokane Future Teacher clubs met at Rogers High School to discuss and share ideas. Activities for the year included serving coffee to the faculty.

Souser, Jan Fowler, Barbara Sampson, Linda Swensen, Dayle Byrnes.

The club also raised money for Shadle's Christmas project.

During free periods of the day, girls visited Field Grade School to observe and assist the teachers and students. They prepared lessons, instructed the classes and began acquainting themselves with the teaching profession.

Future Medical Club visited the River Crest Nursing Home and took a field trip to Eastern Washington State Hospital.

Plans for the spring included taking tours to a funeral home and to the Spokane Eye Clinic.

During the year, several outside speakers came to lecture in the fields of medicine.

Right: Nancy Leyde, president of Future Medical Students, discusses the possibility of taking a field trip to Lakeland Village. Field trips encouraged an insight into understanding people.

Various activities kept language club members active throughout the year. Main projects, centered around the Yuletide season, showed Highlanders' Christmas spirit.

Russian Club, new to Shadle, went on a sledding party and listened to the experiences of Mr. Kuljus, Russian teacher.

Shadle's Latin Club sold cupcakes to raise funds for a joint dinner with N.C.'s Latin Club.

German Club entertained patients at Holy Family Hospital with traditional Christmas carols. They combined with L.C.'s German Club for a hayride.

Adopting a family highlighted Spanish Club's activities. They sent presents to the family during Christmas.

Members of French Club heard guest speakers, saw films, and communicated with a sister school in France.

Future Career Clubs Engage in Projects

DE advisor, Mr. Morlan assists June Landerholm with a project.

Stressing the importance of future careers, both Commercial and Deca Clubs prepared their members for roles in the business world. Commercial Club promoted girls' interest in business. Deca gave members an opportunity to experience business procedures while studying the different phases concerning it.

This year for the first time, Shadle had two separate Deca Clubs. Deca Fi met first and second periods daily, Hi Deca met third and fourth periods. Mr. James Morlan advised both clubs. Representatives attended the Governor's Conference, the State Leadership Conference and the Employee's Banquet.

Commercial Club members constructed Christmas decorations for the Senior Citizens home under the direction of Mrs. Magnuson and Mrs. Griggs, club advisors. They also sponsored their annual typing contest and stuffed envelopes for the March of Dimes.

Featuring Mr. Kruse of Pitney-Bowes and Haydee Valdes, Shadle's foreign exchange student, Commercial Club engaged various guest speakers throughout the school year.

Projects,

Giving public performances at local functions became the primary purpose of the Talent Club. Mr. Lloyd Fowler supervised the group as they visited places such as the Veteran's Hospital.

Excursions, holding an art exhibit, and making Christmas corsages occupied Elda Tra art club members.

Mr. George Alex and Mrs. Geraldine Courture advised the art club members on all activities throughout the year.

Combining a modern day story with a fairy tale challenged Shadle's Thespians as they presented "The Mouse That Roared" to students and public.

The cast of thirty-two began practicing early in October to prepare for the performance in December. Rehearsals demanded after-school practices in addition to evening dress rehearsals.

Shadle's Thespian troupe also participated in the All-City Thespian Installation this spring. Troupe 169 is sponsored by Mrs. Louise Forsyth.

Math Club members sold data guides and tables for their money making project. Tours through the Weather Bureau, Data Processing and the Bell Telephone Company highlighted the activities for the year.

Chess Club members played in inter-school tournaments.

Archery Club stressed individual competition this year. Members supplied their own equipment and practiced an hour and a half per week.

'Crew' Maintains Stage Order; Trips, Lectures Aid Two Clubs

Stage crew assumed the task of taking care of auditorium lights and mikes throughout the year. Stage crew requirements include one year of electronics, or a working knowledge of that subject.

Efforts to promote a better name for the Science Club resulted in field trips to Gonzaga University Chemistry Labs and Pacific Science Center in Seattle. These trips enabled members to better understand science through free work, discussion and activities.

Electronics Club enjoyed films and lectures on theory throughout the year. The club gained its first female member this year.

Clubs Stress Co-ed Nights, Service Work

Participating in recreational activities and assisting organizations played an important role in two Shadle clubs, Home Ec and Caileag Clan.

Selling cookbooks composed of recipes donated by women teachers and Home Ec Club members helped raise money for the Home Ec Scholarship.

Home Ec Club members also dressed dolls for Red Cross. They in turn distributed them to families of servicemen overseas.

Caileag Clan, a girls' sports club, held Co-ed nights once a month. Sports provided entertainment and competition.

Below: Stepping over two Pirates, Frank Doctor (32) sweeps left tackle as Barry Redd (70) leads the blocking attack. Plays such as this resulted in all city slots for both players. Tom Schultz (79), and Jim Philopant (31) look on.

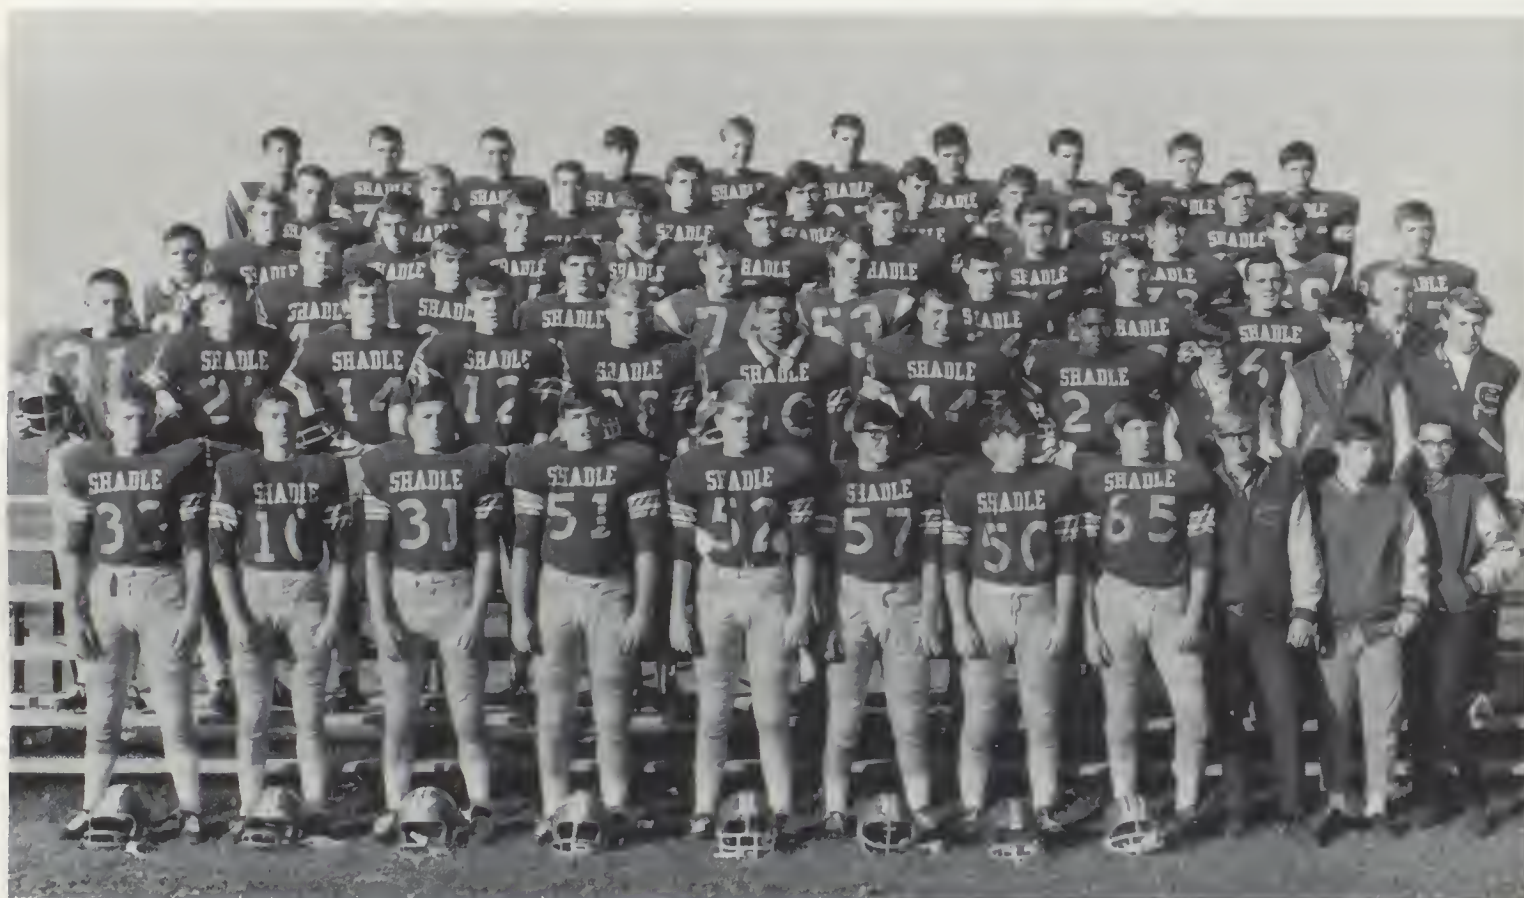

Beginning slowly due to injuries and inexperience, the Scot's varsity football squad battled to a second place position in city league action.

Losing Dan Robbins in one of the first practices and the inexperience of quarterback Tom Cropp hampered the Laddies early in the season, said head coach Gary Davis.

Constant improvement led to a new city record for intercepted passes — eight in two games. The hard hitting Highlanders finished the grid season winning six and losing three.

A slightly inexperienced offense, backed by a more aware defense, characterized the spirited gridgers.

Five Gridders Win City Honors

Breaking city and school records, five Highlanders landed 1967 All-City football positions. Frank Doctor, Steve Barker, and Barry Redd received first string spots from the Spokane Chronicle and Spokesman Review, while Scott Jarboe received a spot on the second team from both newspapers. The Chronicle also named Marv Seal to its second team.

Frank Doctor set two school and city records this year, carrying 241 times for 1301 yards. He only lost 12 yards for a total of 1289 yards gained, and averaged 5.3 yards per carry. The Review and Chronicle chose Frank for their All-City first string.

Linebacker Steve Barker set a school record for tackles made during a season, 237, and also set a record with a career total of 395 tackles.

Barry Redd made 94 tackles in his position as strong guard, while Scot Jarboe had 136 tackles accredited to him.

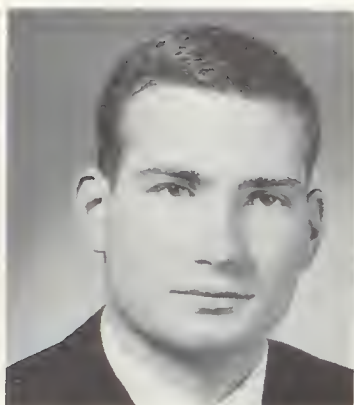

Above: Highlanders Steve Grace (82) and Tom Cropp (12) close in on a Lewis and Clark ballcarrier. Sports writers termed this game as one of the toughest of the season for the Tigers. The Laddies proved all through the season to be Lewis and Clark's closest threat for city honors.

Shadle's 'B' Squad Ties for 2nd In Shadle's "B"-squad football team tied for second this year with a 5-2-1 record.

Starting out the season, the squad see-sawed by tying University, shutting out North Central, then facing defeat against Rogers.

The highlight of the season came with the final game of the year against Lewis and Clark, whose varsity is rated first in the city. The "B"-squad overran the Tigers leaving them scoreless.

Coaches James Brown and Lyle Pugh felt the squad had one of the best defenses in the league. The season's play also showed a strong line and able backfield with players like Dave Chicha, fullback; Mike Landry, halfback; and Tom Pitschka at tailback.

Coach Brown commented, "Several individuals, among them, Jim Kidwell, tackle; Phil Barker, end; and John Krautkramer, quarterback, will make good additions for next year's varsity."

Track Men Take Fourth in All-City, Valley

After a disappointing record of two wins and four losses, placing Shadle fifth in City-League standings, the cross country team rallied for a fourth place in the All-City, Valley meet.

Of the eleven teams competing in the All-City, Valley meet, six from the City-League and five from the Valley-League, Shadle placed behind Rogers, L.C., and Ferris.

Brian Hutchinson, Dave Probst, Mike Buchanan, (all juniors) and sophomore Mark Dimond, ran varsity throughout the season.

The varsity team's only reward of the season came when Brian Hutchinson placed sixth in the All-City, Valley meet, qualifying him for the state cross country meet in Seattle.

The times on Shadle's cross country course were slightly slower than last year's because of changes in the course, due to the planting of grass around the water tower.

Coach Lochhead spent many hours working out with the team, which proved quite profitable when the team took honors in the All-City, Valley cross country meet.

'B' Cross Country Bolsters Varsity Team

With competition keen for the seven varsity spots, the "B" squad team exchanged runners with varsity throughout the season. The change in the varsity line-up added spirit and the needed depth to the "B" team.

After the long and disappointing season, the Shadle "B"-squad team had a record of three wins and three losses, good enough for fourth place in City-League standings. In the All-City, Valley "B"-squad meet, Shadle's "B"-squad runners finished ninth.

All of the two-mile cross country times on Shadle's course were slightly slower this year due to new grass planted around the water tower. Coach Lochhead changed the course by adding several sharp bends to make up for the lost distance.

Above: Straining at the start of the North Central race, Shadle's varsity ran the race with the greatest spirit of the season, only to find that they had lost by a disappointing one point. Brian Hutchinson finished first after he had exchanged the first position several times with a North Central runner.

Above: Cheering on teammate John Viger are Tony Mosgar, Lynn Dunn and Mike Thibault. The race was John's first dual meet. Shadle's "B" squad lost to Lewis and Clark

15 to 51, after beating Central Valley the week before 23 to 41. The team finished fourth in the AAU meet at the Downriver Golf Course.

2 loss, 1 tie season record and placed second in the district.

Shadle Matmen Win District Fourth Place

Winning four second place standings, the Shadle matmen took fourth place in district competition, one point behind the North Central Indians.

"The team had only one consistently strong wrestler in most of the weight divisions, so it lacked the depth of some previous teams," explained head coach Lyle Pugh.

The varsity wrestlers tied with Lewis and Clark for fourth place in city competition. Eight returning lettermen and a large number of underclassmen comprised the team.

In Division

Shadle's basketball team finished second in Division II behind University, after compiling a league record of 8 wins and 5 losses. The team completed the season with 14 wins and 6 losses for the third best record in the league.

The Scots set two scoring records and tied another as they gained revenge on Mead for a previous loss of 58 to 52. The team scored the most points in one game, for one record, and had a total of 38 field goals for another record to beat Mead 92 to 42. The win by 50 points tied a 33-year old record held by Lewis and Clark.

Concluding the 1967-68 basketball season, the Spokesman-Review and Spokane Daily Chronicle selected their all-city favorites. Chosen by the Review were Harvey Jones, second team and Bob Miller, third team. The Chronicle selected Miller for the second team and Jones for the third team.

Two Highlanders sparked the team throughout the season. Bob Miller, averaging 12.8 points per game, led the "hoopsters" in rebounds during league and non-league action.

Elected most inspirational and valuable player, Harvey Jones added needed spirit to the team's moral.

After suffering mid-season losses, Shadle's 'B' basketball team managed third place in league standings.

Coached by Mr. Steve Bell, the team had a record of 12 league wins and 6 losses. They beat 4 "out-of-town" opponents, Sandpoint, Pullman, Kellogg, and Kennewick.

Each player averaged from 5-10 points per game and the team had an over-all average of 53 points per game.

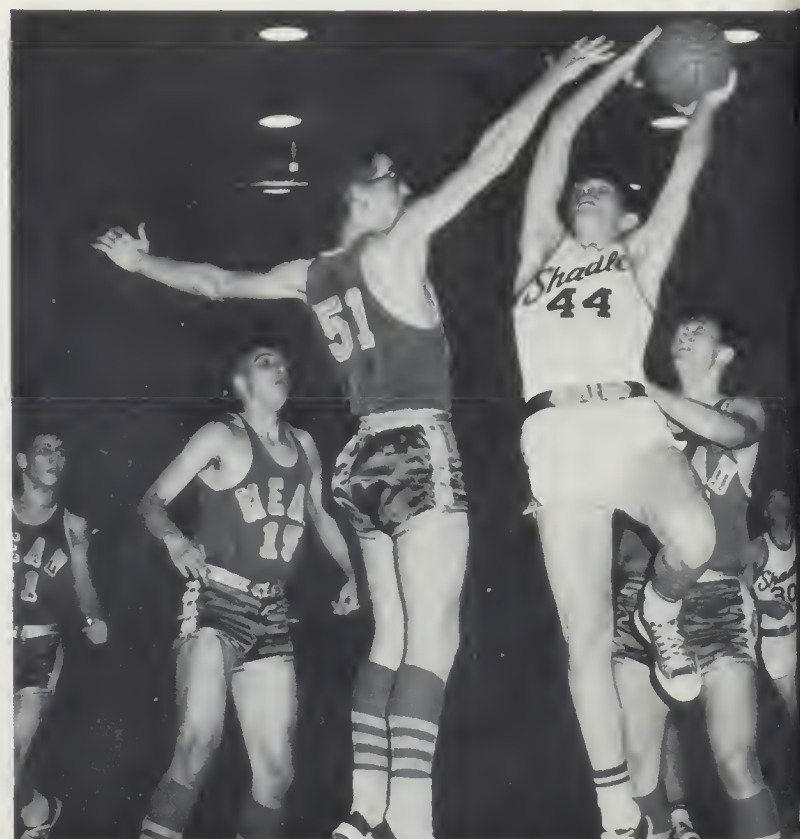

In their first meeting, the Scotties pulled ahead of first place Central Valley by a 1 point margin and went on to down second place University on their court by 18 points.

Right: Leaping past a Panther defender, Bob Hodge springs to score. The game, played on Shadle's court, decided the team standing.

Mitchell, Trudy Altig, Diane Baskin, Kathy Wilcox, Pam Booth, Cathy Fulton.

Combining skill and agility, the Aqua Tartans presented their 3rd annual water show based on bed-time stories. The synchronized swimming club organized the program by writing the script, developing the choreography and making their own costumes, props, programs and pool decorations.

The Aqua Tartans presented a special Christmas program for Morning Star Boys' Ranch and also put on a surprise party for their advisor Mrs. Dennie Moore. A spring banquet hosted by the Aqua Tartans marked the end of the season.

The Pentathlon started its 2nd year at Shadle for the boys' swimming team. To qualify, each boy has to swim for time in 5 events consisting of: 100 yard butterfly, 100 yard free style, 100 yard breaststroke, 100 yard backstroke and the 200 yard individual medley. The swim team from Shadle and their competitors use the results as an accurate account of progress. Other participating schools are: Walla Walla, Kennewick, Pullman and N.C.

Gymnasts Gain Honor In First Invitational

Opening the 1967-68 gymnastic season, Shadle's girls' team won top honors over seven schools participating in the first invitational meet at Pullman, December 9.

Five girls who lettered in gymnastics last year returned. They include Barb Stone, Sande Steckling, Candy Munson, Peggy Wiens and Katie Murray. Kathy Whitehead, who received gymnastic honors in junior high, aided team performance.

The boys' team had four returning lettermen: Dave Miller, Larry Draper, Eric Drake and Dave Miller. Dave Blake, a transfer student, added strength to the team.

Girl gymnasts qualified for state at a meet in Kennewick January 2, while the boys qualified for state at a meet held at Cheney in February. The season's state meet March 8-9, held in Seattle for boys and in Tacoma for girls, marked the year's end.

Coaches Lyle Pugh and Carlos Flores agreed that gymnastics ranks among the most difficult of sports to master.

Below: Advising Mark Dimond and Brian Hutchinson, Coach Harvey Lochhead points out areas of improvement for future races.

Spirit

"Most of our strength lies in the middle distances," stated Coach Harvey Lochhead, referring to the 440, 880, and mile, "although we have at least one outstanding individual in each event."

Edging out upperclassmen, sophomores clinched several varsity spots, adding spirit and inter-squad competition to this year's team.

Adding strength to the team were track lettermen Jerry Riggs, Harvey Dunham and Jerry Deaver. Bruce Wideman and Mark Zimmerman also returned to compete in field events.

"B's" Show Promise;

After competing in five dual meets, Shadle's "B"-squad track team finished the season by participating in the preliminary and the All City meets.

Attending practices six days a week, about 30 sophomores held spots on the "B"-squad and varsity teams. "This is the best sophomore turnout we've ever had as far as talent goes," commented Coach Harvey Lochhead.

Although he wouldn't make any pre-season predictions, Coach Lochhead remarked that a school with a strong "B"-squad generally has a strong varsity team.

Baseball Tournament Highlights Pre-Season

"Attitude is the main thing. There are people this year who want to win a ball game," said Coach Joseph Heslin at the start of the 1968 baseball season.

Defensively strong but hampered by "green" pitchers, the team included eight returning lettermen, two transfers and a number of upcoming juniors from the "B"-squad.

Taking part in a new tournament, the Scots battled with 10 city and valley schools and 6 teams from outside the city in a three-day tournament held during spring vacation.

Sophomores Comprise 'B' Baseball Squad

"B" baseball season started on April 9 this year. Twenty sophomore boys made up the team which played every Tuesday and Thursday. The boys played 4 pre-season and 14 league games.

"The boys showed good promise in pre-season warmups and displayed a fine attitude," commented their Coach Doug Cresswell.

Coach Cresswell also pointed out several potential ballplayers that looked good during turnouts. The boys included Karl Benson and Mike McCammon.

Boys' Team Goes Undefeated in Fall Golf

The teams' six varsity golfers, coached by Mr. Ray Mohny, led the team to first place in fall action, with no losses. Starting the spring season, the boys' golf team won second place in the Kennewick Invitational. Twenty-three schools participated.

Replacing Mrs. Dennie Moore as the golf team coach, Miss Karen Aznoe commented, "After only three nights of practice we've had some great scores." The girls took fourth place last fall.

Tennis Teams Place High in League Play

"B"-squad members practiced to further their abilities, anticipating a future varsity position. Forty-one boys turned out for tennis.

Accomplishing a perfect season with eight wins, the boys' tennis team took first in the city's fall season. The boys' tennis coach, Mr. Marvin Anderson, said that over forty boys tried out for the team.

With five wins and two losses, the girls' tennis team placed second in the fall season. "They've done a fine job and have been steadily improving and should win every match in the spring season," said Mrs. Pat Woodard, the girls' coach.

At the All-City Tournament held in the fall, Linda Nelson and Sue Fry took first and second for Shadle.

FACULTY

Expansion Typifies District 81; Enrollment, Curriculum Grows

Expansion characterized the work of School District No. 81 this year, as enrollments in Spokane schools reached an all time high of 35,400, observed Dr. Albert Ayars, Superintendent.

To accommodate the obvious increase, the district purchased land and began plans for a new junior high in northeast Spokane, with construction scheduled to begin this summer. The Building Advisory committee considered various ideas for a north side high school.

Curriculum, too, expanded to meet the students' needs, with foreign languages receiving emphasis. The addition of Russian and Japanese increased the total of foreign languages taught to six. Eventually the schools hope to offer six consecutive years of foreign language, explained Dr. Ayars.

Stressing occupational skills, the district began work experience programs. Home economics students in the program spent an hour working in nursing homes, hospitals, and other community agencies, for every hour spent in the classroom. Similiar programs included experience in industry and business. Distributive Education classes noted rapidly increasing memberships. Driver's Education classes also grew tremendously.

Shadle's benefits from the district included the new paint job on the back of the building, the construction of the student parking lot, the first Russian class, and the increased use of team teaching. The district also remodeled the library-teachers' lounge area of the building and enlarged the business machines room.

School District No. 81 projects at Shadle included repainting the west side of the building. Above, a workman, surrounded by scaffolding and glass, applies the new green and "gold" to replace the original orange and turquoise. The painting, which hadn't been done since 1957, took two weeks.

Shadle's

Adjusting to a larger student body, its frustrations and problems, kept Shadle's administrative staff occupied during the year.

2291 Highlanders attended classes during the school year. They brought their problems to counselor Mrs. Olga Iverson, adviser to the Girls' League, and Mr. Robert Kuehl, home-room coordinator and sophomore class counselor.

College bound seniors visited the office of Mr. Donald Cobb, college counselor and Dean of Boys. Miss Helen Cleveland, Dean of Girls, also advised and supervised all Girls' League activities.

Registrar Wayne Conner, registered all students and balanced classes. Mrs. Irma Painter checked the absentees, served as attendance counselor, and advised the A.S.B.

Over-seeing all functions of Shadle Park, Principal William Taylor and Vice Principal Keith Rostvold dealt with disciplinary problems and distributed honors.

Mr. Taylor also approved the new system of "back-to-back" teaching, combining students' English and History classes in a block period of study. The system allowed the student to explore the material more thoroughly.

Principal William Taylor points out a scheduled event to Vice Principal Keith Rostvold. They planned and approved all of the main activities before the year began.

Mr. Donald Miller stresses a fact in Civic and World Problems as Mr. Dennis Petek prepares his part of the discussion. Mr. Miller and Mr. Petek combined their classes in a team teaching situation. It allowed the teacher to delve more thoroughly into areas of student interest and encouraged more student participation. Each teacher specialized in a certain area of the chapters studied.

Cooks Confront Famished Mass; Custodians Maintain 68 Rooms

along with their major tasks to keep the building in good repair and functioning smoothly.

Serving approximately 4,500 lunches each week, Shadle's cooks faced hungry students who consumed over 300 lbs. of ground beef, between 40 and 50 lbs. of hot dogs, 75 lbs. of butter, and 7,300 bottles of milk a week. Additionally, the cooks prepared and served 2,300 snacks each week.

The purchase of a new hot box to keep food warm until served helped the cooks meet these constant demands.

Maintaining and cleaning Shadle's 68 classrooms kept the 13 custodians busy. "The students have a tremendous amount of building pride. We couldn't possibly keep up if they didn't," stated Mr. Hugh Leppell, head custodian.

Waxing the floors, the custodians' biggest job, took 6,048 man hours. The custodians also wash Shadle's 38,000 square feet of glass during the summer months.

Above: Familiar to the students, the day shift custodial staff includes: Harmon Ranney, Duane Pettipiece, Ralph Sterritt, Ollie Little, Betty Schirk, and Hugh Lep-

Left: Mr. Hugh Leppell collects milk bottles after one of the four lunches. As head custodian he coordinates and supervises the work of the assistant custodians and maintains the heating system.

Above: The cooks include: Gudrun Jelsing, Bonnie Estes, Martha Meyer, Thelma Hedin, Thelma Darling, Claryce Grimm, Louise Vinson, Lucille Lantz, Donna Dotson, Beatrice Masters, Clara Ninemire, and

Phyllis Swanby. Their duties consist of preparing hot lunches and snacks, baking, serving and dishwashing. They served an increase of 100 students a day over last year in both hot lunch and snack lines.

Right: Mrs. Thelma Hedin puts the finishing touches on the french fries as the first of the "seemingly endless line" of starving students arrives on schedule.

Privileges

Privileges prevail as once again the familiar phrase, "Hey sophomore—out! This is the Senior Cove," rang through the cafeteria. Becoming the selected privileges granted exclusively to the seniors this year, the senior cove, use of the senior court during the spring and also one minute early dismissals for all cons except pep cons gave seniors an added distinction of being "upper classmen."

October 12 many seniors converged towards specified areas as college representatives took charge. Information on twenty-six colleges and universities gave approximately seven hundred seniors an insight into college expectations.

A cast of three hundred and fifty seniors presented "a typical day of TV," this year's senior con, to the public and to fellow Highlanders.

The Con raised over $700.00 for the seniors, who traditionally use the money for the class' senior gift to the school.

Above: Mitch Reems bursts into a comic scene as partner Ginny Whipple receives a spray of his affection. The Senior Con presented a variety of entertainment to Shadle students and to the public.

Below: Seniors listen intently as the Washington State University representative explains WSU's requirements and curriculum. Seniors heard information on twenty-six colleges and universities.

Distinguish Seniors

Left: Early mornings, lunch time and after school found many seniors gathered around the auditorium ticket booth waiting their turn to order announcements and cards. Seniors found this the first of many big expenses they face.

Above: Kris McLellan, seeking a college application form, found her way to Mrs. Mildred Glidden's office for assistance. Getting an application became an important objective of many seniors; college entrance depended on it.

Class Activities Blend Work, Fun, Tradition

Completing three years at Shadle with a mixture of tradition, fun and work, the Class of '68 departed in a rush of spring activities.

Profits from a book sale and from the school's Lilac Princess Coronation added funds to the class treasury. A majority of these funds went for the purchase of the Senior Gift, presented at the spring ASB installation con. Class of '68 also appointed this day Senior Dress-up Day.

The traditional Senior prom terminated weeks of preparation. Fort George Wright Commons set the scene for long formals and tuxedos. Held May 25th, the prom introduced the final busy week of school for the seniors.

"Mass confusion" resulted when seniors exercised their power on Senior Rule Day. Later in the week seniors appeared in informal sports clothes for the annual Senior Barbeque. The Senior Breakfast took place before graduation rehearsal.

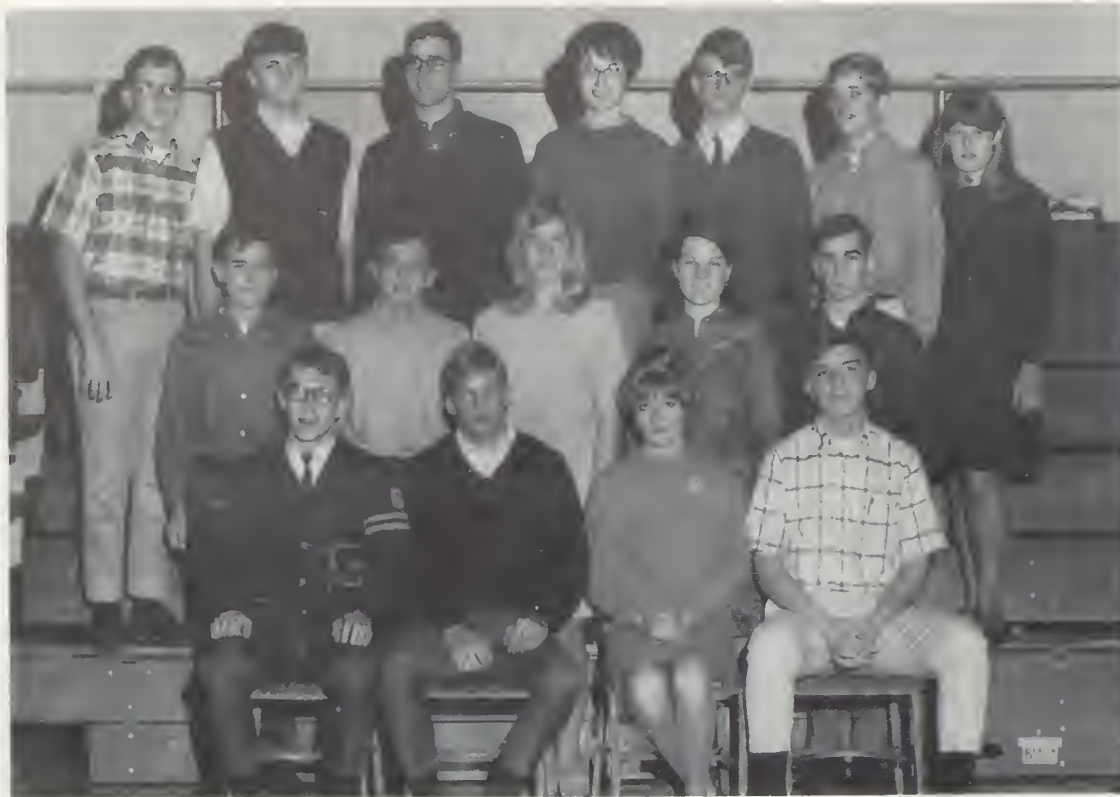

Commencement exercises, held June 2, climaxed three years of high school as close to 700 seniors received their diplomas, giving Shadle the distinction of again having the largest graduating class in the city.

Year for Class of '69

Emphasis on money raising projects to finance the Junior prom characterized the Class of '69 activities. During basketball season the class sold S.P. booster buttons. They also ran the popcorn and concession stands at school basketball games and wrestling matches.

Noted for being the earliest class to form, the juniors set another record by holding the two largest cupcake sales in Shadle's history. A bottle drive raised additional funds.

Committees spent the year planning the Junior prom. Looking ahead to their senior year, the class formed a committee to lay the ground work for the Senior Con and planned to begin a Senior Gift Committee.

Sophs Develop Writing and Science Skills

Above: Sophomore English entails many things such as mythology, grammar, Julius Caesar, and for some, even sleep. Thought provoking questions require concentration and skillful writing as sophomores learn composition fundamentals.

Right: Dissecting a crayfish, sophomore biology students broaden their knowledge of science through experiments and classroom discussion.

Sophs Probe into World History Situations

Kip Conley looks to his world history teacher, Mr. Williams, for the answer to his question. The sophomore history program correlated man's past with his present as it took the student from ancient history to contemporary events.

Right: Trying to work out theories such as the isosceles triangle theory, sophomores Vickie Carol and Judy Hand combine their efforts in Mr. Cappello's geometry class. Use of visual aids such as the overhead projector provided variety in class instruction techniques throughout the school year.

Sophomores Strive for Greater Knowledge

Right: Discussing problems which arise in World History, sophomores Debbie Bunker and Ray Reyes use a comparative study to assist them in a group research project.

A THOUSAND
CONGRATULATIONS

Count them if you like. They come from your thousand friends—the people who make up The Washington Water Power family.

A year, ten years, maybe thirty years ago, each of us passed the milestone you have reached. For us it preceded our entry into the world of private business and public service.

Our careers have, for the most part, been constructive and satisfying.

We sincerely wish as much for the graduates of 1968.

Youth reaches for these unattainable goals and becomes man or woman.

Youth becomes seekers . . .

This quest is eternal — the individual must find himself.

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

Challenged by four major deadlines and 16 minor deadlines, the staff worked approximately 300 hours compiling the 1968 Sporrán. Staff members designed layouts, planned pictures and wrote copy under the guidance of advisor Ted Clark, whose cooperation and encouragement was vital to year-book production.

Capturing the essence of the theme QUEST, art student Larry Cree designed the 1968 Sporrán cover. The pole vaulter striving for physical and athletic ideals; the hand symbolizing the search for international understanding; and the figure encountering new horizons as he pursues his ultimate goal portray youth's seeking. Through abstract design, the front cover illustrates youth's eternal QUEST.

Special thanks go also to Mr. Dale Quincy, R. Wallace Pischel representative, for his aid in the sales competition and organization of the Sporrán's general structure.
